The Dash

I read of a man who stood to speak
At the funeral of a friend.

He referred to the dates on her tombstone
From the beginning to the end.

He noted that first came the date of her birth
And spoke of the following date with tears,
But he said what mattered most of all Was the dash between those years.

For that dash represents all the time
That she spent alive on earth
And now only those who loved her
Know what that little line is worth.

For it matters not, how much we own,
The Cars the house, the cash,
What matters is how we live and love
And how we spend our dash.

So think about this long and hard,
Are there things you'd like to change?
For You never know how much time is left
That can still be rearranged.

If we could just slow down enough
To consider what's true and real
And always try to understand
The way other people feel.

And be less quick to anger
And show appreciation more
And love the people in our lives
Like we've never loved before.

If we treat each other with respect
And more often wear a smile,
Remember that this special dash
Might only last a little while.

So when your eulogy is being read
With your life's actions to rehash
Would you be proud of the things they say
About how you spent your dash ?

In Our Hearts

We thought of you with love today,
But that is nothing new.
We thought about you yesterday,
And days before that too.
We think of you in silence,
We often speak your name.
Now all we have is memories,
And your picture in a frame.
Your memory is our keepsake,
With which we'll never part.
God has you in his keeping,
We have you in our heart.

The image features two roses, one smaller and one larger, positioned in the upper right quadrant. They are rendered in a soft, monochromatic style that blends with the background. The background is a textured, mottled brownish-gold color with subtle variations in tone and some faint, larger-scale floral patterns.

Condolences

from the deepest of our hearts...

Dear Krissy,

I never had the pleasure to meet you but you were dear to my immediate family. James, Dara & Junior talk of you often, so I feel like I knew you. May God continue to protect you and those you left behind. Please save me a place in Heaven...

Cousin Robert

The background is a textured, mottled brownish-gold color. In the upper right quadrant, there are two roses. The one on the left is smaller and more tightly curled, while the one on the right is larger and more open, showing more petals. The roses are rendered in a slightly darker shade of the background color, giving them a subtle, embossed appearance.

Memories

all the gray you turned into colors...

Lisa Roggio

Hey Krissy, I just came across the last Christmas card you gave me 5 years ago... and it says how you look up to me and that i am your favorite and only sister, and how much I mean to you, Well I just want you to know you mean just as much if not more . I would give anything for you to walk into my room and and steal all my clothes like you used to and when it would be time for me to look for something, it would be gone and then ask you.... Krissy where are my clothes did you take my clothes?? and you'd say " I DON" T KNOW" LOL.... and then you'd leave me to go crazy to look for them .. knowing they were hidden in the draw upstairs by grandma...lol... I love you!!

James Sr

Hi Kristian,

It's been almost 5 years now & I can't believe where life has taken all of us.

I know you watch over all of us and can see all of what's going on, So I'm sure knowing you that you are not really happy with the out come of the most current events.

I'm really sorry things didn't turn out much different in life 5 years ago & since they didn't most importantly now. I pray to you because I know you can help us find the strength to make the right choices for the future.

Betty Hickman

The last memory I have of Kristian was Christmas 2003. I had my camera in hand and was deciding whether to take pictures. She said you have to take some or the film will go bad. So I took pictures of her and James Jr. Little did I know that she would be gone soon after. I look back and wonder if it was meant that I took one of the last pictures of her. She was glowing with happiness because she was so in love with James Jr. and with the life plans they had made. Now we are all left with beautiful memories but we are all in such pain because she is gone. I know one day we all will be together. Kristian we love and miss you so very very much. Hugs and Kisses

The background is a textured, mottled brownish-gold color. In the upper right quadrant, there are two roses. The one on the left is smaller and more tightly curled, while the one on the right is larger and more fully bloomed. Both roses are rendered in a light, almost white tone, making them stand out against the darker background.
